Outdoor Time Tracker

No matter where you live or what month it is, the natural world has plenty of fascinating secrets to uncover. Have a parent or guardian help you keep track of how much time you spend playing and exploring outside. Using the design below, color in a section for each new milestone you reach. After you fill in the whole image, cut it out along the dotted line and use it to decorate.

Very Interesting Objects

In addition to tracking the amount of time you spend outside, use this sheet to note any interesting natural objects you find along the way. The three main types are objects that are parts of animals, plants, and minerals, such as feathers, leaves, and crystals. Try to find something from each category!

Build a Book Tree

A fun way to track your reading progress is to create your own book tree! Whenever you finish reading a new book, either by yourself or with a grownup,  or in and carefully cut out a leaf from this page. Tape the leaves onto a tree trunk made out of cardboard or brown construction paper, and watch your tree flourish with each book you read!
